

RCN branches – meetings guidance

This guidance provides an overview of the types of meeting held by branches together with hints and tips for them to run smoothly. The appendix includes templates for you to use.

There are three types of meetings held by branches. Meetings can be held in person, virtually or a combination of both (hybrid).

1. Full branch meetings – where all the members of a branch are invited. These meetings are to share information and discuss issues affecting the branch members in particular and the RCN in general. It is suggested they are held once or twice a year. Evidence suggests that you get a better attendance if you combine a meeting with a development event or workshop.

If decisions are to be taken at a full branch meeting, then at least ten members must be present either in person or virtually. Administration support for meetings may be provided by the country or regional office. Agenda items might include:

- Branch finance update- to note and discuss the most recent branch management accounts which will have been supplied by the country or regional office.
- Board updates and consultation requests – to respond to any consultation requests from the Board. You may want to invite a
