Royal College of Nurs ng

International Workforce in the UK After Brexit: Future Immigration System

RCN BRIEFING

Report authors: Christian Beaumont and Susan Williams

Contributors: John Knape, Lisa Turnbull, Rosie Raison, Sarah Atherton

RCN Legal Disclaimer

This publication contains information, advice and guidance to help members of the RCN. It is intended for use within the UK but readers are advised that practices may vary in each country and outside the UK.

The information in this booklet has been compiled from professional sources, but its accuracy is not guaranteed. Whilst every effort has been made to ensure the RCN provides accurate and expert information and guidance, it is impossible to predict all the circumstances in which it may be used. Accordingly, the RCN shall not be liable to any person or entity with respect to any loss or damage caused or alleged to be caused directly or indirectly by what is contained in or left out of this website information and guidance.

When asked what works well in the current immigration system, the three most frequent answers were that:

- It allows the UK to recruit large numbers of nurses from all over the world.
- The streamlined process for EU nurses was skills and experience.

The current system is supportive of this in the