Why people are trafficked

- Domestic work.
- Rural work, farms and agricultural work, factories, construction, food processing, hospitality industries, plantations, fishing, beauty industry, shops.
- Sex workers/prostitutes.
- Criminal activity including cannabis cultivation, street crime, forced begging and benefit fraud.
- Forced or sham marriages.
- Organ removal.

Signs of trafficking

- is accompanied by someone who appears controlling, who insists on giving information and speaking for them
- is withdrawn and submissive, seems afraid to speak to anyone in authority

The role of the nurse/midwife/ registered nursing associate

Trust and act on your professional instinct that something is not quite right. It is usually a combination of an inconsistent story and a pattern of symptoms that may cause you to suspect trafficking.

If you have any concerns about a child, young person or adult take immediate action to ask further questions and get additional information and support.

Remember:

- trafficked people may not self-identify as victims of modern slavery
- trafficking victims can be prevented from revealing their experience to health care staff through fear, shame, language

What to do next

- Try to find out more about the situation and speak to the person alone and in private.

All national helplines are free to call and can provide interpreter services if English is not your first language.
