

Revalidation is the new process for Nursing and Midwifery (NMC) registrants to show they remain fit to practise and remain on the NMC register.
Almost 16,000 nurses and midwives will be the first to revalidate this April but all 685,000 NMC registrants will have to go through the new process over the next three years as

What do you need to revalidate?

To revalidate, nurses and midwives will be required to collect evidence of the following:

450

ho rs of pracic

35

ho rs of con in ing prof ssional d v lopm n

Revalidation has been tested in 19 pilot sites across the UK. One of those sites was Central Manchester Foundation Trust, and members of their team have shared their experiences to help other nurses and midwives through the process.
